The Adventures of Toto narrates the amusing experiences of a monkey named Toto who is purchased by the narrator's grandfather from a tonga-driver. Grandfather is fond of animals and already keeps a variety of pets. Toto is initially hidden in a cupboard because grandmother disapproves of new animals.

Toto proves to be extremely mischievous. He breaks dishes, tears clothes, and creates chaos in the house. To prevent damage, Toto is shifted to the stable, but he continues his naughty activities by pulling the tail of a donkey. During a train journey to Saharanpur, Toto causes further trouble by disturbing passengers, leading to extra charges for his ticket.

The climax of The Adventures of Toto occurs when Toto is placed in a large kettle of hot water. Instead of being frightened, Toto enjoys the warm bath, testing the temperature with his hands and finally hopping out. Despite his playful nature, Toto becomes too destructive and expensive to maintain. Ultimately, grandfather sells Toto back to the tonga-driver.

The Adventures of Toto humorously highlights that love for animals should be balanced with practicality. Like other NCERT chapters such as Kathmandu, this lesson focuses on real-life experiences and values, making it important for Class 9 exams.
