Detailed Summary of The Lost Child (200–250 Words)

The Lost Child narrates the story of a little boy visiting a village fair with his parents. The child is excited by the sights and sounds around him. On the way, he is attracted to toys, sweets, garlands, balloons, and a snake charmer, but each time he controls his desire because he knows his parents will refuse.

At the fair, the child enjoys the colourful crowd and festive atmosphere. Suddenly, he loses sight of his parents. Fear grips him, and all his joy disappears. He runs around crying for his mother and father. A kind stranger finds the lost child and tries to comfort him by offering the same things the child had earlier desired—toys, sweets, flowers, balloons, and even a ride on a roundabout.

However, the child refuses everything. He no longer wants material pleasures. His only wish is to be reunited with his parents. The Lost Child beautifully shows that a child's true happiness lies in parental love and security, not in worldly attractions.

The chapter The Lost Child teaches an important life lesson relevant for Class 9 NCERT students and competitive exams. Like chapters such as Kathmandu, it focuses on human emotions and values rather than physical possessions.
